as salaam walaikum brothers and sisters in islam, The brother who said that Monosodium Glutamate which is in ajinomoto is haram is WRONG .It ( monosodium glutamate ) is halaal .Pls dont spread wrong information .The proof is the list of halaal and haram ingredients prepared by Islamic Food and Nutrition Council of America.Pls see the list for proof :

The Muslim Students' Association @ University of Houston <?xml:namespace prefix = o ns = "urn:schemas-microsoft-com:office:office" />

A Guide to Halal Food Selection
by HALAL FOUNDATION

(Islamic Food and Nutrition Council of America. P.O. Box 425, Bedford Park, IL 60499)

Disclaimer: This list was prepared by the organization mentioned above. The MSA is not able nor qualified to make any fatawas on Halal or Haram. Any questions should be addressed to the Halal Foundation or some other qualified individual(s).

"Oh people! Eat of what is on earth, lawful and good" (Quran)

Instructions

For a product to be Halal (lawful) for Muslim consumption all its ingredients should be Halal. Follow the following list:

1. Read the ingredients on label carefully. Ingredients are listed according to the amounts present. The first ingredient listed is present in the largest amount.
2. Identify the Halal/Haram/Mushbooh status of each ingredient using this guide.
3. Search the ingredient name in the list and its status will be next to it.
4. If all ingredients of a product are Halal, the product is fit for Muslim consumption.
5. If any of the ingredients is Haram, the product should not be consumed.
6. If any ingredient falls under Mushbooh category avoid this product, as the Prophet has advised us to avoid doubtful matters. This ingredient could come from a Haram source. To find out the status of this ingredient you should write or call the manufacturer of the product

Glossary:

Halal: Halal is a Quranic term which means allowed or lawful. Halal foods and drinks are permitted for consumption by Allah-the Supreme Law Giver. Eating Halal is obligatory on every Muslim.

Haram: Haram is a Quranic term, which means prohibited or unlawful. Haram foods and drinks are absolutely prohibited by Allah. Eating Haram is forbidden for every Muslim.

Mushbooh: Mushbooh is an Arabic term, which means suspected. If one does not know the Halal or Harm status of a particular food or drink, such a food or drink is doubtful. A practicing Muslims prevents himself from consuming doubtful things.

Prophet(s) Muhammad is reported to have said:

"Halal is clear and Haram is clear; in between these two are certain things that are suspected. Many people may not know whether those items are Halal or Haram. Whosoever leaves them, he is innocent towards his religion and his conscience. He is, therefore, safe. Anyone who gets involved in any of these suspected items, he may fall into the unlawful and the prohibited. This case is similar to the one who wished to raise his animals too close to a restricted area, so that the animals may step into that area. Indeed for every landlord there is a restricted area. Indeed the restriction of Allah are the Haram." (Sahih Bukhari & Sahih Muslim)

Shukran for the notice. Brother, the product 'AJINOMOTA', you mentioned is also being included in noodles. Is there a specific brand of noodles that contains this product, or is it any kind of noodles? If so, Insha`Allah I would like to know if the brand, "MAGGIE" uses this, and is it shown in the ingredients. JazakAllahu Khairan.

So is this the burning question of the day for Muslims?

We need an Islam that works based more on practical deeds. We need an Islam that is unified, free of extremism, aware of corruption and exploitation, favouritism, poverty, sectarianism. We need Muslims that can get on with their life by harnessing forces of nature for the benefit of mankind through technological research. We need an Islam that could free muslims of individuals seeking refuge in European countries and then while living there and enjoying freedoms they never had, conspiring to blow up people.

Those are the issues of the day. Infatuation with minor rituals shows our intellectual bankruptcy. Allah tells us in the Qur'an that the Jews got deeply involved with minor details in their way of doing things, which was termed as "punishment" for them.

The Muslims are not suffering because of being non-observant of rituals; they are suffering because of an intellectual paralysis.

Find ways and seek ways to get out of that gutter. If rituals alone was the secret to success, the Muslims would have been on top as they are the only ones who observe them.
